THE information which the Hon. Mr. MURRAY STEWART elicited from the Government as to the import of morphia in Hongkong is of more than local interest. About two years ago when public attention began to be drawn very emphatically to the increasing consumption of morphia in China, we pointed out that the Chinese Customs statistics, so far from supporting this assertion, showed that the impot of morphia since 1903 had fallen so low as to be practically of no account. In 1902, the import of morphia-into-China was returned as 195,133 ounces; in 1903, it was 106,148 | the Hon. [FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT]. October 27th.

MACAO BOUNDARY QUESTION. Owing to the recent revolution Portugal the Society for the Protection of Boundary Rights is somewhat alarmed at the probability of further trouble regarding the disputed boundary. In a memorial recently sent to Peking the Society has pointed out the necessity for an immediate settlement, urging that the present unsettled state of affairs may at any moment lead to grave international complications. One man, calling himself a patriot, has sent in a petition to the Vicercy urging him to take advantage of the present troubled state of affairs to gather a large land and sea force and take forcible possession of Macao and drive the Portuguese into the sea. The petitioner has been severely reprimanded for making such a suggestion.

The agitation against the queue is still going on and gaining favour. It is quite noticeable now how the number of queueless Chinese has increased. Although various reasons are urged for its removal, there is no doubt that the fundamental reason is that the queue is the symbol for the hated Manchurian yoke, and that the agitation for its removal is only one phase of the patriotic revival which is passing over the country. There are, of course, those who bitterly resent removal. saying that the style of head-dress can make no possible difference to the prosperity of the country, but these persons certainly seem to be in the minority. I hear there has been started an Anti-Quene Society in Hongkong, and that branches of the association are to be formed here and in all the large towns. Even in the villages men are cutting off these hirsute appendages, and some have even adopted European style of dress. The present ides, however, is to retain the present style of dress, as its rejection would mean rain to many people.

RAILWAY TROUBLES. The engineers who are constructing the Canton-Hankow line have a lot to put up with from the opposition and superstition of the ignorant villagers. These people who stand in constant dread of "Fung Shui" consider that the cutting of the line gives mortal offence to the deities who are supposed to preside over these | Conception. It will commence each evening at districts. The latest trouble comes from a 5.15 p.m. with the recitation of the Blessed remote part of the Ying D.strict, just on the Rosary, followed by a sermon preached by the borders of the province where a bridge is in Very Rev. Father William Arkwright, S.J., course of construction. A few days ago a mob (of Macao Seminary), concluding with the of angry villagers surrounded the contractor benediction of the Holy Sacrament. Shortly after eleven o'clock on Thursday morning, when a women who lives at 19, Shaukiwan Road, had returned home after a short absence, she saw a man leaving her house with a bundle of clothing. As the intruder was departing her state of speechless astonishment gave place to one of shrill vocal activity. She raised loud cries of " thief ." and when the thief took to his heels she followed and continued to shout. The man rushed towards the Bay View Police Station, and when the police appeared on the scene he jumped the wall of that station. climbed on to the roof of a small out-house and from there scaled the glass-crowned wall of the Oil Works. Lowering himself into these works. he concealed himself in a store room, where he was subsequently arrested by the police. When captured the thief was badly out with glass. HARMSTON'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE. ____

OPENING LAST NIGHT. Harmston's Circus has returned to Hengkong, bringing many new performers as well as many old favourites who appeared in the ring to execute skilful and thrilling acts. The Circus opered at Couseway Bay last night and attracted a large attendance, whose approciation of the performance was munifested by frequent applause The programme opened with a clover equestrian act by Willie Harmston, after which that inimitable mimic, Novella, imitated the bark of a dog or the meow of a cat, and generally translated the languages of the animal world with such realistic effect that he was roundly applauded by his hearers. Miss Jennie Harmston-Love's graceful wire-walking exhibition was a turn well worth sceing while the equestrianism of Mme. Amanda was greatly appreciated. A "good shot" always appeals to the public whether on the rifle range or when stalking game, and as the Sisters Louise and Angelina Vasca registered bull's-eye after bull's eye in their sharpshooting act, put bullets through the necks of bottles and extinguished lamp after lamp in rapid succession, they provided the "great surprise" which the management foreshadowed. Clowns Hayes and Shadow, in their comic entrée provoked the laugh which dooth good as a medicine, and then Professor John Rougal introduced his family of welleducated bears, who waltsod to music and did other clever things which they could have only accomplished after months of painstaking care by their trainer. Needless to say, Mr. Rougal and his wild mimals found favour with the spectators. The Weitzmann Troupe gave a thrilling gymnastic display, awinging from trapeze to trapeze in mid-air, and compassing blindfolded feats, the daring of which made the spectator shudder. This was followed by the novel and clever performance of Piccolo and Fiori, the Continental comedians, who are stated in the advertisements

Edward and Queen Alexandra at Buckingham Palace. Their performance is an exceptionally clever one, especially the part in which Piccolo appears in the arena with what appears to be a dummy, and after twisting the supposed man of straw into all shapes he unmasks him, and there, full of life and bowing to the wondering spectators, stands Fiori. An amusing trio frolic is followed by the appearance of the Brothers Kavanagh, whose clover juggling tricks we have before mentioned. Their performance last night was new, but needless to say it was as skilful as heretofore. Rudsit, the tramp cyclist, was a wonder on the wheel, while the thrilling tiger act with which the per-

THE REVOLUTION IN . PORTUGAL.

THE MANIFESTO TO THE PEOPLE.

The following proclamation was distributed in the capital:— People of Portugal .-

The people, the Army, and the Navy have proclaimed the Republic. The dynasty of the Braganzas, maleficent and wilful disturbers of the social peace, has been for ever proscribed from Portugal.

This rare and notable event, the expression of the pride of an indomitable race and the redemption of a country the bravery of which has roudered it legendary, fills with joy and enthusiasm the hearts of patriots.

This day puts an end finally to the slavery of this country, and the beneficent aspiration. of a régime of liberty rises luminous in its vir in essence. Citizens, the passing moment remays and recompenses us for all the struggles, all the pitiful conditions from which we have suffered. Let this moment be the beginning of an epoch of austere morality and of immaculate justice. Let us in glorious communion of principles make our sacrifice for our country the basis of our political programme, and let generosity towards the conquered be the basis of our moral programme. Citizons, let one interest alone - the interest of the Fatherland-animate you, and let one desire-the desire to be great- unite us. The Republic trusts the people to maintain social order, to respect justice, and to devote themselves to the common cause of liberty.

AN APPEAL TO THE TROOPS. Senhor Braga, President of the Provisional Government, issued the following manifesto to the Army and Navy:--

"The Provisional Government of the Portuguese Republic salutes the troops by land and sea, who, in co-operation with the people, have established the Republic, to the happiness of the Fatherland. It confides in the patriotism of all. The Republic is for the whole people, and the Government therefore hopes that the officers of the Army and Navy who have not taken part in the revolutionary movement will present themselves at headquarters to guarantee the most absolute loyalty to the new Administration. In the meantime, the revolutionists must retain all their positions for the defence and consolidation of the Republic. General Carvalhaes is appointed Commandant of the Lisbon Divi-

THE LEADING SPIRITS IN THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

A correspondent of the Times contributes the following notes on the members of the new

Of the new Ministers the best-known at home and abroad is Dr. Bernardino Machado. Minister of Foreign Affairs. He is also the only one who has experienced the burdens of office. He was called in the early inineties from his Chair of Philosophy at Coimbra to the Ministry of Public Works, and thus perved for a short Silver closes somewhat lower on the week at | time as a Rotatavist Minister of Dom Carlos. followed on his numerous humorous sallies, his 257d. per oz., and Sterling T. Other BANKS .- Hongkong and Shanghais have difficulties supervened, and after a few months he resigned office, and with it the hope that the Monarchical principle as interpreted in Portugal could ever be reconciled with either retrenchment or reform. He returned to his professorial chair at Coimbra, which he occupied till 1907, when his espousal of the cause of certain undergraduates in conflict with the Church made this position also untenable for him. Since then he has devoted himself FIRE INSURANCES—Chinas have again whole heartedly in and out of season to the Republican cause.

> He is well equipped for the part. An alert, spare little man of about 60, of cordial though dignified manner and scrupulously neat dress. he impresses you after a few minutes' conversation as a man of the world of refined and scholarly tastes and all-embracing symathies. He speaks French fluoritly. He reads, though he does not speak, English, and will descant enthusiastically upon Mr. Gladstone and other champions of Victorian Liberalism. But should the conversation turn upon Portuguese politics his large dark eyes, mild and contle at other times, assume a hard and dangerous glitter. revealing the fact that this man is no dilettante. that he has a distinct and steadfast purpose in to realize. He has long been convinced that nothing is to be hoped for from the Monarchy. Qu'est-ce que vous voulez? Nous sommes gouvernés par une femme et par un oufant.

C'est à dire par des êtres passionnels! But Dr. Machado always urged that the change to a Republic should be peaceful and Constitutional. He deprecated violent methods -unless these should prove to be necessary. It is interesting to recall that, although Dr. countries should be national and not merely For some time past America The visit was timed, not perhaps quite under | the Chinese officials. signedly, a few days after that of the King. A stroll with Dr. Machado through the streets of Lisbon on a summer's evening is an interesting though somewhat jorky experience. Every 10 yards he must return a salute or stop to shake hands, or discuss a question of the day. Dr. Machado's independent position, wide sympathies, and his ingenious methods of propaganda have contributed to make him the chief educative and attractive force in the passed as the restraining influence of the party: but despite his patriarchal manner and reassuring exterior, the Monarchy has had to more doadly foe.

SENHOR COSTA. Senhor Affenso Costa, the New Minister of Justice, exemplifies the opposite type of Republican leader. A tough-fibred man in the prime of life, full of ambition and nervous energy, he has hitherto been known as successful barrister and an uncompromising advocate of armed revolution. He was indeed one of the ringleaders of the abortive rising. of January, 1908, when he was caught redhanded and imprisoned. None the less, a few weeks after the assassination of Dom Carlos he was expounding the programme of the Republican Party in the Chamber at great length, in a speech which was re-endorsed by his small though vociferous band of followers in the Chamber, rarely by criticism, more often by obstruction, have been potent factors in the downfall of the five or six ill-fated Governments which have successively held office since the tragedy of February 1. Once at least he has been enabled by the fortunes of war to take a stand upon principle. When last summer the We Government of S. Wenceslau de Lima proposed to deal with the vexed question of unnuthorized grants from the Treasury by settling that part of it which concerned the Royal House, while of relegating the more invidious part concerning priva's individuals to a more convenient, if more uncertain, date, Senhor Costa exposed the inequity of the intention and blocked the motion. Senhor Costa has a sanguine and Southern temperament, and will no doubt bring to the new Government debating power and a spirit of enterprise. Whether he possesses rifts of statesmanship or even a sense of discipline we have as yet no means of knowing.

THE PRESIDENT. Senhor Theophilo Braga owes his office to the qualities and attainments which formerly gave him the Presidency of the Academy of Sciences. and later that of the Republican Congress. He is a man not only of great crudition and command of language, but of lofty and far-reaching ideals. Not long ago in conversation with the writer he described at great length, with tears in his ever and in a voice choking with emotion. the hopeless distress in which his fellow-countrymen were living and a burning desire for its amelioration. He explained his immediate political ideal for the Peninsula as a federation of four or five Republics, of which Portugal, together with Galicia, should form one. Braga's ideals are still drawn largely from the literature of the French Revolution, and the thoroughness with which he follows them to their logical conclusion has earned him in some quarters the name of visionary and Utopian. His patriotism and the generosity of his motives are above suspicion, but he is no longer young. and the task he has assumed would tax the powers of a man of greater physique, nervous energy, and experience of affairs than Dr. Braga can pretend to.

Such are the leaders of the revolution. There are many others like them, men of high academic attainments, wide sympathies, and generous impulses, but without experience of affairs or of public responsibility. They have apparently captured the fortress with ease; will the be able to hold it? Will they justify their leadership to their surporters, to the shonkeeping, the professional, and the wage-earning classes, whose growing discontent with the conditions of life in Portugal have long since resulted in an undisguised divorce between the Monarchy and the nation? There are silent masses of people in Portugal who are to-day breaking unwillingly with the tradition of a thousand years, who are still full of admiration for Queen Amelia and of loyalty to her son, but who think that their fair country deserves a better lot than that which a long series of Monarchical Governments have provided for it—a Legislature hopelessly misrepresentative of public opinion and deaf to public requirements, a complete stagnation of public business. and a constantly recurring deficit averaging a million sterling a year. If the new Government can show even the beginnings of an impr vement in these respects it will have justified itself in the eyes of the nation.

In spite of all that has been said of Shanghai rubber c mpanies, says the N.-C. Darly News, is by no means certain that the worst has yet been heard. Three companies have had to admit publicly to more or less serious discrepancies between the statements made in the prospectuses and the actual conditions of the estates. Others may be expected to come forward with similar admissions, for the Straits Times, which must be credited with sense of its responsibility in making such a statement, announces that "the his information which has reached us has compelled the conclusion that certain valuations made for Shanghni were pure swindles, and that the persons who made them should be Republican Party of recent years. In all the circumstances it is not to be wondered at that a general sense of insecurity obtains among shareholders, qui to apart from the slump in market quotations. A large number of purchasers of rubber shares were actuated by the reflection that, whether prices soared or not, they were making a sound investment. These people still have their shares, and in most cases can afford, on the strength of: the company's published prospectus, to regard the present prices of their stock with equationity, not untinged with Consolidate with love and sacrifice the work | the party only a year ago. Since then he and sympathy for those who are forced to sell. Such confidence, however, is not altogether proof against the statements made in the Straits Times and the fact of one company after another having to admit that its property is by no means as satisfactory as had been previously represented. There can be only one method of restoring public confidence, and that is by a revaluation of all the "first year" companies, both for the benefit of present holders of shares and for the encouragement of prospective purchasers. Under existing conditions there must be a tendency on the part of those who have money for investment to stay their hand, for fear that even at the attractive prices at which they are now obtainable the shares of one company or another, when the truth about them is known, may prove a disastrous investment. Three auggestions are now before the public > ber problem. The first was propounded in our columns by Mr. E. S. Little, who suggested revaluation of all properties by carefully relected experts with a view to subsequent amalgamation of companies in order to save management and agents' expenses. There can be no reason why such a scheme should not effect for our rubber companies what Cocil Rhodes' amalgamations did for the Kimberley diamond industry. The difficulties in the path, however, are great and can only be overcome by unremitting effort on the part of those who are prepared to devote themselves ontirely to the object in view. second suggestion has been put forward for establishing a general Estates Management company in Singapore or Penang to combine in one body the management and agencies of Shanghai companies. The latter would hold all the stock and their representatives would form the Board. By means of this company it is urged that Shanghai will be directly represented in the rubber area, and much of the money now being paid out to agents in Singapore and elsewhere would return to this Of this scheme it has to be said that whatever its intrinsic merits, it makes no attempt to deal with that part of the problem which i uppermost in men's minds at the present moment. There remains the proposal put forward this morning in our columns by a pseudonymous correspondent. The writer, who prefers to conceal his indentity under the name of "Practical." points out that for the indispensable revaluation of properties there is no need to spend more money on experts' reports. By this time, he urges, all companies must have received through the reports of their managers and visiting agents full and detailed information regarding the condition of each property, the number. size and age of the trees. This information should be placed unreservedly and without delay in the hands of shareholders, who will then be in a position to come to some decision regarding the future policy of the Against possible criticism in opposition to this

scheme that such a stop would be without procedent or d regutory to the directors or in some other way prejudical to the interests of the company it has to be pointed out that the situation is exceptional and that Shanghai shareholders can hardly be expected to be over-sensitive in regard to unyone's feelings in this connection. In our opinion, however, something more remains to be done after revaluation of the rubber estates. before Shanghai can hope to recover from the crisis that has affected both its finances and its morals. No section of the community can pride itself on exemption from the immorality of the boom. The public clamoured for shares directors lent their names for the asking. trusting to vendors' or promoters' assurances vendors and promoters, if of Shanghai, trusted to the statments of someone else or considered that details were unimportant with rubber over eleven shillings a pound and the public ready to take any shares that were offered them. But the difference between these three sections is that. where a company's estate proves not to be, the vendors and promoters alone have derived any benefit. The public may have been crazy for shares. but their madness had this much method in it that they demanded those shares only from those whom they regarded as trustworthy business men. If these latter have been deceived, they may plead that it is their misfortune and not their fault, only so long as they have not benefited through the deception. There can be no justification for retaining profits made over a false deal. A vendor disposes of an estate on the understanding that it is of such and such a value in virtue of its area and the number of-trees, of a stipulated growth, that it contains, If a few months later it can be proved that the estate fails entirely to correspond with the description of it given by the vendor, shareholders have not received what they agreed to buy and are not bound to pay the sum covenanted. Where the vendors are of Shanghai it may be supposed that they will voluntarily surrender the profit to which they are not entitled, and we presume that even in other cases the directors of companies placed in such a position will attempt to recover part of the purchase price. With companies that have been misled in the manner indicated and have parted with vendor shares a solution of the difficulty might be found, if these shares are still unsold, by their destruction in whole or in part. Finally there remains the class of company that may be unable to point to actual grave discrepancies between the prospectus and more recently ascertained facts, but finds that the prospects held out originally prove altogether misleading. In such cases it is obvious that the property cannot hope to be a success while it is paying its agents or secretaries an unnual sum equivaient perhaps to the possible output of rubber from the estate three years must see to it that the interests of shareholders are safeguarded. In this way can directors. who accepted their posts only too lightly, shoulder, though late in the day, some of their responsibilities. Then with economies effected in these directions Shanghai may have some chance of proving the truth of "Practical's" optimistic belief that 'under competent and economical management most, if not all," of the companies may in time give a fair return to

" CHINESE JURISTS IN LONDON ."

The following further letter has appeared in The Times on the subject: ---

Sir.—As chairman of the luncheon tendered y the London Court of Arbitration on the 21st alt. to the distinguished Jurists recredited by the Imperial Chinese Government to attend the eighth international Congress on Prisons onvened at Washington, I must take exception to the singular misconceptions contained in the letter of "Ex Oriente" which appeared in The Times of Wednesday last.

Your correspondent discloses his hand in his effection on what he conceives to be the attitude of the Chinese Government towards the ex-torritorial rights enjoyed by Europeans, but when he proceeds to compare the Chinese Judiciary with the European conception of justice of the 14th century he has recourse to exaggeration which one seeking, as he affects to do, to guide others should have avoided It of course rests with the Chinese Ministry of Justice to designate its Judges and law officers by such titles as it may deem proper, and I am unable to follow "Ex Oriente's "reasoning when he disapproves of the assumption by China of the title of Attorney-General, held by the chief law officers of the British Crown throughout the King's Dominions. When the Hon. Ch'ien Hsu at the luncheon referred to the penal law of China, the codification of which has existed for so many centuries and the revision whereof has been so largely aided by his Excellency Wuting-fang, ex-Minister at Washington and a member of the English Bar, he dealt with a subject which some people, including, I hope, "Ex Oriente," trust may receive attention in this country in the near future, whilst his reference to the arbitral procedure adopted throughout China for the adjustment of commercial differences was alike interesting and instructive as illustrating the high standard observed.

The attention extended to the Chinese Commission, of which the Hon. Ch'ion Hsuis the head by the Government of this country and that of other European countries through which it has passed was not undeserved, and I am pleased to think that in the exigencies of the Long Vacation, which precluded arrangements of a more ambitious character being made, it should have fallen to the London Court of Arbitration to tender to the representatives of a great country its best wishes for the accomplishment of the high task of law reform to which they are addressing themselves with conspicuous ability.

BODILY EFFECTS OF THE WIRELESS. Like other modern occupations, wireless telegraphy has brought spacial disorders to man. In the campaign in Morocco, the wireless telegraph operators of the Descartes of the French Navy have been pretty steadily employed, and Dr. P. Bellile, the surgeon on board, reports that the Hertzian where have developed various maladies among these men. The eyes were much affected, cases of slight conjunctivitia, keratitis and lankema being common. This was due to the very powerful action of the ultra-violet rays and the wearing of yellow or orange glasses was advised. Another ailment set up was eczema, of which there were two cases—one of the wrist and one of the eyelid-both difficult to oure. A particularly uncomfortable case was that of an official who had worked the wireless trining un inert gas, thus cutting off the nir telegraph several years, but who suffered from painful palpitation of the heart after using the approved apparatus made by a Prussian comsending instruments for any considerable time, pany near Minden, as described by Consul T. H. A PRIZE THEORY OF THE EARTH. For the best essay on the earth's interior, the University of Jena has awarded a prize to M. Thiene, whose theory is thus outlined. The mean density of the earth is known to be more than five times that of water. As the surface rocks have an average density of only 21 and water of 1, the interior must have a density of about 77-that of iron. It is fairly cortain also that the rigidity is slightly greater than that of steel. 40 Kentish Road, Handsworth, Birmingham, Dear Sirs,-It is now about five years since Angier's Emulsion was recommended to me by a doctor, and I have found i invaluable for indigestion and stomach catarrh, as well as for toning up the system. I was very much run down when I first took it, but improved immediately, and gained in weight 15 lb. in twelve weeks. I have recommended the Emulsion to several of my friends for various complaints, with good results. It proved especially good for a friend who suffers from inflammation of the bowels, who was completely cured, and has been at work (Signed) F. THOMPSON. regularly ever since.

HEALING AND STRENGTHENING.

Angier's Emulsion soothes the mucous membrane of the stomach and intestines, arrests fermentation, checks bacterial growth, and promotes normal, healthy action of the bowels. It is a splendid tonic to appetite and digestion and it builds up health and strength. Doctors prescribe it for chronic indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, stomach and intestinal catarrh, chronic diarrhota, etc. It has cured many obscure cases after other remedies had failed. Angier's Emulsion is also invaluable for the relief and cure of coughs and lung affections.

HERPICIDE

"I am sending you my photograph to show what Newbro's Herpicide has done for me, Since I first tried Herpicide upon my hair I have used it exclusively in giving scalp treatments to others, and I would not think of trying to get along without it."

(Signed) Mrs. ANNA CONNER.

2807 Archer Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Hundreds of lady scalp specialists and hair dressers use and recommend Newbro's Herpicide, instead of products of their own manufacture upon which a much larger profit could be made. The claim that Herpicide makes friends for them and gives much better satisfaction. Some hair dressers use Herpicide for obstinate cases only, but why not use the cost first?

Herpici e is a delightful dressing that can be used when there is no disease of the hair or scalp, and as an actual remedy for dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair it stands in a class singularly its own.

Many ladies object to a gummy and sticky hair dressing, or one that is full of sedimentary chemicals intended to dye the hair. The marked preference for a clean and dainty preparation, particularly one that overcomes excessive oiliness and leaves the hair light and fluffy, is reflected in the enormous sale of Newbro's Herpicide. Discriminating ladies become leaves the hair light and fluffy, is reflected in the enormous sale of Newbro's Herpicide. enthusiastic over its refreshing quality and exquisite fragrance. A ROYAL PHYSICIAN'S STATEMENT. In spite of all the ordinary precontions people take to safeguard their health and the care they habitually use in selecting their proper food, the time comes, sooner or latter, when they feel more or less " slack," run-down, and below par. Without enquiring the reason, people instinctively know that they need a tonic. The difficulty is to determine what tonic to use, for, as every one is aware, most tenics, though they stimulate for the moment, have a depressing after effect.

There is no such drawback with Sanatogen. which doctors universally call the "Tonio Food with Lasting Effects," because the gratifying sensation of health and well-being it imparts continues long after it has ceased to be

It is universally admitted that nothing so admirably fills the needs of those who require a tonic as Sanatogon. The reason is that it not only improves the nutrition of the physical side of the body, but it also exercises a beneficial sway over the brain and nervous system, and has a profound influence in improving the quantity and quality of the red blood corpuscles, which are such potent factors in maintaining the health at its highest point. In this connection Professor Tobold, who was Physician-in-Ordinary to the late Emperor Frederic, writes:- "Sanatoven has proved itself to be an admirable dietetic preparation in patients of mine whose autrition was much below par."

A sharp pelt of rain had driven more than one wayfarer taken unawares into the village store —that emporium of everything from a bootlace to a bicycle, kept by one Mr. Jonathan Spriggs, the principal merchant of Mexbridge, and, in his own estimation, quite the most important man in the town. There were others not wantng who took Mr. Spriggs at his own valuation, and the genial storekeeper had his little circle satellites, to whom the "People's Store" ranked of as high importance as a London Club to the man about town, or the salen of Madame Recamior to the French elegants. Here politics were discussed, and matters of national importance agreed upon-or the reverse-the store sometimes figured as the village stock exchange or in softer momenta mellowed into a matrimoni-

Mrs. Gubbins folded her hands contentedly over her crape-cloth dress, and looked pensively over the garden towards the high road.

It was Septemper, some months later than the discussion described above: she had been a widow well over the year convention demanded her seclusion and sembre mourning attire, but the crape trimmings still crackled with the rise and fall of her ample bosom, and she still were the fatoful bands of white at her wrists. She wastruth to fell-toc well satisfied with the placidity of her life, after her turbulent existence with the late Jereminh, to have any wish to again enter the troubled seas of matrimony.

That she had and would have suitors in plenty was evident, for not only were her personal charms undeniable, but her pecuniary affairs were supposed to be in a most satisfactory condition, and these two things combined were a magnet strong enough to attract most men. "Good-evening, Mr. Henderson," she said

Mrs. Gubbins blushed and looked away from the fervent admiration expressed by her bucolic admirer. "You forget my mourning, Mr. Henderson,

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO & SCIATICA.

Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica are three of the most common and most painful complaints and practically arise from the same cause and the names only distinguish the location of the disease. If the arms and legs are affected it is called Rheumatism; if in the Loins, Lumbago; and in the hip, Sciatica. The attacks are generally brought on by chills when the body is overheated, or by exposure to damp or cold draughts, which act, not upon the bones or muscles but upon the Uric Acid in the Blood, which is the cause of the disease. The failure of the Liver and Kidneys to filter and absorb this Acid leads to an accumulation in the system, tends to close the circulation, and harden the tissues forming the blood vessels. Thus every movement of the affected parts causes you intense agony. The pains are affected more or less by cold or heat. A damp day will double you up, or the warmth of the bed will intensify the pain. Rheumatism is generally regarded as one of the most difficult ailments to cure, and invariably medicines are tried simply with the hope temporary relief. Dr. MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS have been wonderfully successful not merely affording a cessation of the pain, but by driving the poison out of the blood and restoring the joints to their original suppleness. They get at the cause as no other remedy does. They get at the foundation of the complaint which is the blood and a trial will abundantly prove the wonderful efficacy of this remedy.

THE HISTORY OF FOOTBALL.

From a sketch in the State of South Africa, by Percy S. T. Jones, apropos of the approaching visit of the British Rugby team, one gleans the history of football. Football in Great Britain owes its orign to the Romans, who played with a ball of cloth or leather stuffed with flooks, called harpastum, or with a windbag, called follis. The writer proceeds:-

"It is not possible to produce any direct evidence of the progress or popularity of the game in England prior to the year 1175. It is fairly conclusively established, however, that football goes back several centuries further than cricket. In 1175 William Pi(zstephen, writing in his history of London. mentions the fact that it was the habit of the young men of the city to play at the well-known game of ball after dinner. And there can be no boubt that this game was football, but what its outstanding features were can only be a matter of guesswork. The game was confined to the lower classes; no rules existed for its control; the contests seem to have been more in the nature either end of a town or street; and the number in them, carrying out their training of players seems to have been unlimited." FORBIDDEN BY LAW-IN VAIN

That the game was still un-lawful in the time of Elizabeth is evidenced by the fact that a Middlesex jury brought in a true bill against a number of persons who "with unknown malefactors to the number of one hundred assembled themselves unlawfully and played a certain unlawful game called foote-ball, by means of which unlawful game there was amongst them a great affray likely to result in homicides and serious accidents."

THE QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES IN CANADA.

"THE BUFFS ARE LOOKING."

Sir Henry Pollatt, in his reply to the civic address of welcome which was presented to him on his arrival in Toronto from England with the Queen's Own Rifles, said : During our visit to the Motherland we have had very great pleasure in acknowledging many grand and enthusiastic receptions, but I can safely say that not one has been more appreciated than the magnificent reception which has been tendered to us to day by our fellow-citizens of the grand old city of Toronto, our home. Our welcome in the Motherland was truly

British with the one exception that the old traditional British reserve was cast to the winds, and we were made to feel at once that we were heartily welcome. We went to see the British soldier in his own home, that we might benefit by his long years of military education, and we have learned to admire his steadiness on parade and his endurance and efficiency on the field, We have tried to play the game. Our men from the first have lived up to the trust reposed with all seriousness of purpose. Placed as they were between the Buffs and Leicestershires, two of England's oldest and Although popular it met with opposition best regiments, they had no mean task set for from the authorities. INDIA AND OPIUM.

Following the publication of the Christian Appeal for an earlier suppression of the opium traffic, several letters have appeared in the Times representing the effect of opium suppres-Major Ernest Barnes, retired, late of the Indian Political Service, writes :-It is not only a question of the poorer classes among the Indian tax-payers. The extinction of the opium will, in the absence of some substitute or compensation, mean real financial disaster to and consequent dislocation of several of the Native State Governments. In the States of Malwa, Southern Rajputana, and the Indore and Bhopawar Agencies the land revenue derived from the cultivation of opium is one of the most important items of the Budget.

May I quote from the Indian Spectator of August 27th last? Those who know India know that the editor of this paper is a truehearted philanthropist, and also one of the influential Indians of the day.

After referring to one of yours articles on India and to the importance of the Native States as factors in the economy of the Empire, stress is laid on the need of financial justice towards them, as equity of this kind is concrete and easily intelligible both to the princes and the people of India. The article then pro-

"Have the British been ognitable in all their financial dealings with this country? Instances owing to the "great roise in the city caused by ed. Our men have been on their mettle, the to the contrary are too well known to be cited. hustling over large balls, from which many watchword being "Steady, Queen's Own, the The last straw seems to be this so-called extinctive might arise, which God forbid." The Buffs are looking." The good name of the tion of the epium trade at the expense of the game nevertheless progressed. In 1315 Ed- regiment, the reputation of our city and, opium-growing States, their Zamindars, merward III, ordered his sheriffs to suppress above all, that of the Dominion which chants, and labouring population. Here shooting with arrows was almost totally laid mind, and if we have won the respect tion which may or may not succeed, in order peraside for the purpose of various useless and of the British Regulars with whom we were so haps to placate the United States and to save unlawful games." But so persistent were the closely associated in the manouvres, then truly China from herself—an almost impossible task. that Richard II. and his successors had to purpose that we of the Queen's Own desire disaster to several of the States, and yet not one of the rulers has so much as been consulted in Exeter Hall and the pressure it night exert on Government. Is India to be governed by idle contimentalists or by responsible statesmen also found it necessary to order quarterly prac- taking which the regiment has just completed. Surely these latter are more responsible to the princes and peoples of India than to Exeter Hall, to China, or the United States. An international policy with regard to the control of traffic in opium is to be welcomed, but it must not be indulged at the expense exclusively of others who are not a party to the international agreement. And where and how comes in this international action when the Government of Indian practically put down the export of opium from the Native States into British Indian territory itself? The new policy creates a number of pitfalls that may swallow up high reputations. It also seems to us to be arbitrary and invidious in its working." I apologize for troubling you, but the matter is really a serious one, and your correspondent lately in India will surely have written in vain if it is disposed of by Government on any but an equitable basis.

Another Correspondent writes :-May I supplement Sir H. Bliss' letter by another fact? Many millions of the Indian people are moderate consumers of opium, Apparently in some parts of India they benefit by its use in moderation. It is seldom one meets a person who indulges to excess in India. The Indians find it Leading Brand difficult to understand why the British Government are so keen to deprive them of six millions of revenue without consulting their wishes. A short time since an Indian friend of mine who had lately been elected to the new Council wrote me as follows, viz .: -" I really don't know what possessed the authorities to suree to the abolition of the opium trade which is in sight now, and which brought in an annual revenue of near six crores of rupees. We have given the natives futher powers in the new elected Councils; but do we allow them, the people solely interested in the best way for raising revenue, to decide in what way it shall

Have the people of India, through their elected members, decided to abolish the opium trade and give up six ereres of revenue, or have the people of India been even consulted in the matter? And if not, why not? These are questions which I leave the Archbishop of Armagh and others to answer.

WHAT IT DOES IT EFFECT: ENORMOUS REDUCTIONS IN IT I	WHAT IT DOES NOT ODES NOT deteriorate in light even after 2,000 hours' burning. OES NOT, although its initial cost is more,
	2,000 hours' burning.
THE CHEAPEST TLLUMINANT, and thus brings this mode of lighting within reach of all. IT PAYS FOR ITSELF in about 150 lieurs on account of its great current-saving Properties. THE 17 WATT. (app. 16 H.C.P.) OSRAM LAMP GIVES 20 HOURS LIGHT THE FOR ONE PENNY: THE 40 WATT (app. 32 H.C.P.) OBRAM LAMP gives 25 hours light for the consumption of one unit of current. THE OSRAM LAMP has an average life of over 2,000 hours, and during the whole of that period its initial c.p. is practically undiminished. IT CONSUMES only approximately 1 watt per Hefner candle-power as against 4 watts	PROVE AS EXPENSIVE AS AN ORDINARY CARBON LAMP, for it lasts four times as long, and consumes one-quarter the current ALL THE TIME. DOES NOT require any special installing, burns in any position on any lighting circuit, and fits existing lampholders. OSRAM LAMP DOES NOT BY ACKEN. DOES NOT GET HOT. AS OSRAM LAMP, although giving four times the light of a carbon lamp, does not generate heat to any extent. This, added to its other advantages, makes it the ideal Lamp for private houses. HIGH CANDLE-POWER LAMP DOES NOT take as much current as the Enclosed Arc Lamp, and is rapidly displacing this latter form of lighting, being cheaper in first cost and cheaper to maintain. THE WORD "OSRAM" 18 ON EVERY BULB.
